

Banksia spinulosa 'Black Magic'

Banksia 'Black Magic' is a medium growing, compact form of 'hairpin' banksia that produces dozens of gleaming gold & black brushes across winter and spring. Liking a semi shade position and good drainage, this shrub will suit a coastal site. Trim lightly to keep tidy or a little harder for a tight, formal hedge.

This shrub makes a great specimen in coastal areas provided it has some protection from intense heat and good drainage. Makes a good hedge if trimmed regularly.

Best grown in a well drained soil in a sunny, open position. Prune after flowering to maintain shape.
