

Eucalyptus camaldulensis 'Blue Veil'

WEeping RED RIVER GUM

Eucalyptus camaldulensis 'Blue Veil' is a grafted variety of Eucalyptus that only grows in a weeping fashion unless trained otherwise. It has long flexible branches and attractive blue/green foliage. Ours are grown staked upright.

The supple nature of the young growth allows 'Blue Veil' to be planted at the top of high walls or hills where foliage is allowed to cascade down in a weeping fashion. It can also be espaliered against a fence or screen to great affect. Suitable for native gardens.

This tree is extremely tolerant of all soil conditions and planting situations in full sun or part shade.
