

Ginkgo biloba 'Mariken'

This tree form is a standard. 'Mariken' is a stocky, slow growing, dwarf form of Ginkgo with a much denser habit and thicker branches than the original form. It will eventually grow wider than it is tall without any training. The foliage, although smaller in size, is dense and cup shaped in appearance with the same fan shape and equally stunning autumn colour as its parent plant.

'Mariken' is grown as a standard and used as a feature tree in residential gardens. Leaves from this tree can be used for teas.

This tree can grow in almost any position but best in moist, deep, fertile soil. Full sun or part shade.

Foliage Deciduous

Form Standard

Mature Size 1.0m grafted

Family Ginkgoaceae

Small

Deciduous

Standard

Feature Foliage

Specimen

Disclaimer: The material contained on the Speciality Trees website is for general information only. Although much care has been taken to provide the information on its website, Speciality Trees does not warrant the accuracy, completeness or currency of this information and its suitability to your needs. All material listed on the Speciality Trees website, its associated links and product sheets are varieties either ready for sale or in production. This is an information source and not confirmation of availability. It is strongly recommended that users enquire about product availability independently of this source.