

Malus domestica 'Granny Smith'

GRANNY SMITH FRUITING APPLE

A small fruiting tree, used as a feature in a small garden or planted in a group where there is more space. This variety of apple is tip bearing, with bright green skin. It has a tart flavour with a crisp texture.

One of the world's best cooking apples, originating from an Australian seedling. It is revered as a cooking apple - but should not be overlooked for an eating apple - if left on the tree to fully ripen. The fruit has a long storage life. Pick Time: Late season

Plant in moderately fertile, moist, free-draining soil in full sun, although it will tolerate partial shade. Keep a clear area around the trunk of at least 60cm radius. Chill-hours for fruit development: Requires fewer chill-hours than other Apples. Pollinators: Jonathan, Pink Lady, Golden Delicious. Red Delicious or Cox's Orange Pippin are required nearby for this tree to pollinate and fruit successfully.

Small

Deciduous

Round

Fruiting & Edible

Group Planting

Disclaimer: The material contained on the Speciality Trees website is for general information only. Although much care has been taken to provide the information on its website, Speciality Trees does not warrant the accuracy, completeness or currency of this information and its suitability to your needs. All material listed on the Speciality Trees website, its associated links and product sheets are varieties either ready for sale or in production. This is an information source and not confirmation of availability. It is strongly recommended that users enquire about product availability independently of this source.