

Picea pungens 'Fat Albert'

COLORADO BLUE SPRUCE

A shapely bush, young growth is soft blue-green turning to light green with age. Its leaves are long stiff needles and grey bark. It has a large, broad, pyramidal habit. Doesn't require any pruning or staking for a good shape, unlike normal blue spruce.

This is a feature tree for small gardens and rockeries. It is a good selection for pots due to its form and distinctive blue colour.

Prefers a humus rich soil. Tolerates some drought and air pollution.

Foliage Evergreen

Form Horizontal
Branching

Mature Size 2 x 2m

Family Pinaceae

Small

Evergreen

Horizontal Branching

Feature Foliage

Disclaimer: The material contained on the Speciality Trees website is for general information only. Although much care has been taken to provide the information on its website, Speciality Trees does not warrant the accuracy, completeness or currency of this information and its suitability to your needs. All material listed on the Speciality Trees website, its associated links and product sheets are varieties either ready for sale or in production. This is an information source and not confirmation of availability. It is strongly recommended that users enquire about product availability independently of this source.