

Prunus salicina 'Donsworth'

DONSWORTH JAPANESE BLOOD PLUM

This is an early season, large clingstone blood plum, with dark pink to red skin. Flesh is light red and juicy. It is a vigorous growing variety and prolific bearer, so staking is recommended.

As a small-grower, this tree is suitable for all sizes of gardens, even small backyards. This variety can be eaten fresh or used in preserves and jams.

Plant in a sunny position with well-drained and well-worked soil. Take care to plant the bud union (graft) above the soil level. Water in well and keep the soil moist until the tree is established. Fertilise when planting and again after new growth appears. Prune to ensure new growth and fruiting the following year.

Foliage Deciduous

Form Round

Mature Size 3 x 3m

Family Rosaceae

Small

Deciduous

Round

Fruiting & Edible

Group Planting

Specimen

Disclaimer: The material contained on the Speciality Trees website is for general information only. Although much care has been taken to provide the information on its website, Speciality Trees does not warrant the accuracy, completeness or currency of this information and its suitability to your needs. All material listed on the Speciality Trees website, its associated links and product sheets are varieties either ready for sale or in production. This is an information source and not confirmation of availability. It is strongly recommended that users enquire about product availability independently of this source.