

Ulmus procera 'Royal Parade'

ENGLISH ELM

Stately by nature, this is a large, relatively fast-growing deciduous tree reminiscent of the avenue of honour first established in Melbourne's Royal Parade, Parkville, in the early 1900's. The bark is interesting being grey and fissured, but come autumn, the striking yellow foliage is the real stand out feature of this variety.

Due to its size, this tree is mostly used for streetscapes and large parks where there is sufficient space.

This tree prefers a humus rich soil in a sunny position but will tolerate most conditions. Consider irrigation in long periods of drought.

Foliage Deciduous

Form Oval

Mature Size 12 x 15m

Family Ulmaceae

Deciduous

Oval

Large

Feature Bark

Shade Tree

Specimen

Disclaimer: The material contained on the Speciality Trees website is for general information only. Although much care has been taken to provide the information on its website, Speciality Trees does not warrant the accuracy, completeness or currency of this information and its suitability to your needs. All material listed on the Speciality Trees website, its associated links and product sheets are varieties either ready for sale or in production. This is an information source and not confirmation of availability. It is strongly recommended that users enquire about product availability independently of this source.